News & Upcoming Events for Iowa Community Foundations

Connect Conference Peer Learning Circle Series

Sessions occur October 19-21 and 26-28 | 10 – 11 am

An important part of any conference event is the networking and conversations that take place between conference participants. This has always been noted as a highlight for Connect Conference participants in the past. In an effort to continue these conversations and opportunities to learn from one another in a virtual format, the Peer Learning Circles are sessions designed for specific groups to gather and discuss topics and ideas of interest to them. These conversations will provide an opportunity for you to pose questions to your peers at other community foundations throughout Iowa. Iowa Council of Foundations staff will monitor the conversations and you will be asked to submit questions in advance to help guide the conversation.

You are welcome to join more than one PLC, but please register for each one separately. Peer-Learning Circles for 2021:

Values Aligned Philanthropy: Foundations Resisting Hate and Extremism

Hosted by the Council on Foundations

October 5 | 1-2 pm | Free Webinar

With extremism on the rise, philanthropy's responsibility to avoid funding hate has been in the spotlight. While individual foundations have worked to address the issue, there has not been significant analysis of the sector's activities when it comes to finding solutions to hate funding -- until now. Join the Council on Foundations to discuss our soon to be published white paper, which dives into the challenges facing the sector as foundations work to develop solutions that meet their needs. You'll hear suggestions, recommendations, and next steps from our team and leaders in the field.

Annual National Conference for Growing Community Foundations

Hosted by: Kansas Association of Community Foundations

October 13-15 | Cost: $399 Virtual

Join community foundation colleagues online for the 2021 Annual National Conference for Growing Community Foundations. This conference will explore the "heart" of effective community philanthropy. How can we better serve our communities by finding the common ground beyond divisions, heal past inequities, apply good leadership to grow and expand a healthy place to live, and take care of ourselves, staff, and community in the process? Throughout the conference there will be exploration of tried and true methods for this work, using measurable actions and stories from the field. Please note this conference has moved from a hybrid to all-virtual format.

Flood, Famine and Fire: Building a Climate Justice Analysis in

... 2021, Planning and Not Building a Climate Change Analysis ...

Philanthropy

Hosted by the Center for Disaster Philanthropy

October 14 | 1-2 pm | Free Webinar

Climate change is fueling the frequency and severity of weather-related disasters, and historically marginalized and underserved communities are disproportionately affected. During this webinar CDP will explore how funders can boost resilience, create mitigation strategies and enhance disaster preparedness while also addressing pre-existing disparities in communities by building a more robust philanthropic response steeped in principles of climate justice.

Panelists include MacArthur Foundation's Ken Jones, Philanthropy California's Alan Kwok, Livelihoods Knowledge Exchange Network's Dr. Julie Maldonado and CDP's Alex Gray.

Last fall, the Clayton County Foundation for the Future received Idea Implementation grant funding after the Connect Conference to implement a program they called Strengthening Boards, Strengthening Communities. This program idea was sparked by attending Susan Howlett's sessions on board recruitment and development. CCFF used grant funds to:

- Implement ideas from Susan Howlett's sessions "Boards on Fire" and "Finding the Good Ones" in planning and running their CCFF meetings. As a result, their meetings have become more efficient and their leaders have become a closer-knit group that is more energized and confident in doing the Foundation's work.
- Create a Strengthening Boards tool based on Howlett's sessions as an easy to reference guide with ideas for engaging board members, building relationships, planning efficient meetings, and cultivating new members. They shared the tool with over 50 Clayton County nonprofit groups, and CCFF Board members shared the tool with additional nonprofits during their summer outreach.
- Host a live virtual Board Boot Camp training to a group of 20 leaders. The recording was also made available to others.

CCFF Coordinator Emily Sadewasser shared: "We believe Strengthening Boards, Strengthening Communities has already been helpful to local leaders in supporting their board members, strengthening their organizations and thereby strengthening our communities. The tool will continue to serve as a valuable reference for their boards and staff and our the CCFF Board in years to come."

Idea Implementation Grant applications will be available to Connect participants beginning on October 15. Learn more here.
